

LAS VEGAS

FALL 2012

WOMAN

TO EDUCATE, ENTERTAIN & INSPIRE

PLUS!
EVERYTHING YOU LOVE

WINES & DINES

FAMILY FIRST

BEAUTY & FASHION

AND MORE!

Dr. Orna
FISHER

CHANGING THE FACE OF PLASTIC SURGERY
IN LAS VEGAS

Doctors of the Desert
SOLDIERS OF THE (MEDICAL) FIELD

Fearless
Females

MARTEEN MOORE,
DR. SUSAN DEVITO & TERRI CHANDLER

Left, Ajaha Johnson, Alexandria Von Mohr and Karen Nava

Four students have been awarded a scholarship from The Epicurean Charitable Foundation of Las Vegas that will pay for their entire bachelor's degree. The recipients are Noah Shakespeare, Ajaha Johnson, Karen Nava and Alexandria Von Mohr. Johnson will pursue a degree in Hotel Administration at University of Nevada, Las Vegas. A Valley High School senior, Johnson is involved in the school's magnet program for the Academy of Hospitality and Tourism. Johnson plays on the school's varsity volleyball and basketball teams and serves as Captain for varsity track.

A graduate with a 4.0 GPA from Northwest Career & Technical Academy, Von Mohr plans to pursue a degree in Hotel Administration at UNLV. Von Mohr also volunteers her time at Darnell Elementary School, a homeless shelter, beach and park beautification activities, and a variety of hospitality program events. Von Mohr is involved in honor courses and is a member of DECA and the Spanish club.

Nava also plans to pursue a degree in Hotel Administration at UNLV. Nava volunteers her time at Berkley Elementary School and the Education Hero Awards Dinner. As a senior from Valley High School, she is involved in the school's magnet program for Academy of Hospitality and Tourism. Nava runs on the varsity track team, serves as President of Hospitality and Tourism Council and is a member of the creative writing club.